

NICK LUTSCH

CHARACTER ANIMATOR

nick.lutsch1@gmail.com | (440) 669-3988

Personal Statement

Upon completing my undergraduate career at Edinboro University with a Bachelor's degree concentrating in computer animation, I have been searching for my next big adventure whilst doing commission work on the side. I hope to pursue a career where I can create impactful stories through characters and emotion. My studies aided my technical abilities, my artistic expression, and my positivity in working with others.

Experience

Official Selection in the David Weinkauf Student Film Festival
May 2015

"Why Must it Bee?," a short by Britt Love and Nick Lutsch

"Crash Our Campus" Logo Designer—Edinboro University of Pennsylvania

March 2014

An unpaid opportunity that involved a short turn-around time for designing a logo that would become an identifier for a joint event involving Admissions and the Highland Ambassadors that heavily promotes the university.

Event Logo Designer—City of Painesville, Ohio

February 2014 – January 2015

An unpaid internship opportunity that involved a short turn-around time for designing various logos for events that happen around the city throughout the year.

Poster Design Artist—Lake Catholic High School

September 2012 – March 2013

A paid opportunity that allowed for artistic expression in designing the posters for the high school play and musical for the 2012-2013 school year.

Camp Counselor—Wildwood Theater Camp

July 2013 – August 2014

A seasonal opportunity that occurs over three sessions in the summer. It is an opportunity to be a camp counselor, help teach critical acting basics, and participate in numerous outdoor and theatrical activities. The youth enjoy games while learning roles for a production that occurs at the end of the session.

Education

Edinboro University of Pennsylvania

Graduate May 2015

BFA Applied Media Arts:

Concentration in Computer Animation

Summa Cum Laude

Skills

